DESPAIR NOT.

BY WM. H. HOLCOMBE.

The Poet's heart's an early flower
That feels the Spring's prolific power
Before all others feel it;
A high, high cloud, whose purpling ray
Reveals the coming fire of day,
Ere lower things reveal it.

A Moses, from some azure height
Illumined by supernal light,
It sees the land of promise:
It sees the world that is to be,
That happy world we cannot see,
For Evil hides it from us.

Despair not—faint not—aching Heart!
But bravely, meekly bear thy part
Among God's suffering creatures;
Though touched by every human pain
And kindling with a high disdain
Of all ignoble natures.

The powers of God are not withdrawn,
But work in silent sweetness on:
Who made the world, will save it;
And breathing from high heaven until
He fashions all things to his will,
As He would have, will have it.

The Saints who have to glory risen,
The Martyrs from the stake and prison,
Apostles, Prophets, Angels,
Have leagued to fire the human heart
To holier issues and impart
New life and new evangels.

All evil things shall disappear.
And every voice that echoes here
Be sweet as children's laughter;
For Christ shall tread all curses down
And blessed love shall take the crown
And rule the world thereafter.

Then faint not, pause not—aching Heart!
But bravely, meekly do thy part
To speed the futures coming.
Our Christ-like yearnings are the powers
Which sow the land with living flowers
And set the world to blooming.

For Spirit is the final cause:
Our spirits modify the laws
Whereby the earth is moving;
The tropic storms would cease to beat,
The frozen poles would melt with heat,
If human hearts were loving.

Bright flowers will spring at every door
When sweet affections outward pour
To cause their gentle springing;
When we become as angels are,
We shall commune with every star
And hear the angels singing.

Let Angels, Spirits, Men, combined
Adore the Universal Mind,
The Father, Savior, Giver:
The light of light—the love of love,
The All below, the All above,
The All in all forever!

A HARDSHELL SERMON.

[From the Brandon Republican.]

"And When They Riz up Early in the Morning, Behold They was all Dead Corpuses."

My friend and hearears, I will preach onto you this day—win and weather permittin—from the thirty-seveingth chapter up Isaisy, thirty-sixth verse. "An the destroyin angel smote in the camp uv the Syrecians a hundred and forescore and five thousand men ah. And when they riz up early in the morning, behold they were all dead corpuses!"—And thus it is, my unconverted frens and hearers, that they destroying angel stalks abroad with his meat axe, ready to sen us to the boneyard before we kin set down to breakfast ah. And it is said, my frens, that roses are red and violets are blue ah but it's no use of trying to honey-fuggle round the angel Gabriel when he toots his horn for you to tuck yo tails and get under dirt ah.

"And when they riz up early in the mornin, behold they was all dead corpuses."

My wretched bretherin and sistering, es I was a riding along the road one day, I seen a man a sittin on the top uv his fence; with a doubled barrel shot gun on his lap ah, an a swettin and a fannin uv hisself with a noble straw hat, an a cussing uv the forthe uv July, an North Ameriky, an the Constitution, an the Supreme Court, an the bird uv liberty, an the President uv the United States ah, an when I hearn that man a cussin an seen that big shot gun thinks I to myself, in the words of the tex ah.

"And when they riz up early in the mornin, behold they were all dead corpuses."

An I tole old Roar. two wo, and sez I, my ungodly fren, if you swear in that air way you will forever and eternally ruinate yo immortal soul ah, and never get a nibble when you go a fishin ah;" and sez he, "You go to hell, you dam'd old misshapen, misbegotten, mistake ov creation ah; ef you had to git the grass out uv a cotting crap with free niggers, you'd git upon a stump and cuss yourself out uv yo dam'd old yaller hide, an go to hell for yo health ah." And sez I, "My errin frien, it cuts me to the marrer to see you strugglin in the bondage of sin ah." An sez he, "My punkin faced customers, ef you kin clime that air tall red oak tree thar and see anything in this here miserable lan but bonding and crab grass you kin take my old hat for a henness ah." An sez I, "My hard swearing fren, I am afeared you will not register yo name in the book uv eternal life ah." An sez he, "I went to town last Monday to register an I could'nt git a sight uv the book for the dam greasy niggers ah." "Oh, mistaken human," sez I, "I trimble for yo future, fur you are on the road a leadin too perdition ah." An sez he, "You are a dam'd ole lier for I'm on the road a leading to Benton ah." I heaved a groan my hearers, and sez I—

"An when they riz up early in the mornin, behold they was all dead corpuses."

An sez he, "Let em riz an be dam'd to em all ah" "Oh, my suffering feller creetur," sez I, "ef you would but sue fur grace you might cum to jine that heavenly quire, and be mancipated frum the shackles uv sin, ah."—An he cocked up his gun an sez he, "I had twenty-six likely niggers mancipated on my hans wonst an ef you open yo jaw bout mancipation to me again I'll make buzzard vittles out uv yo dam'd ole swiveled up carkass befo hell could cripple uv a gnat ah." My constant frens an hearers, when I seen that wicked man a cockin uv his gun ah, I begun to feel exceeding jubous, and the words uv my text smoted upon my ear ah—

"An when they riz up early in the mornin, behold they were all dead corpuses."

But, my Christian hearers, I felt called up to try my han one more time on this objurit man ah; an sez I, "My blasphemous fren, you are continually an forever dam'd, ah, ef you don't immejitly git down ofner that air fence ah, and go to some sequestered spot an pray fur your soul's redemption ah." And he jumped down ofner of the fence shore enuf, but he didn't go to no sequested spot ah; but my unconscious hearers, he stuck that big ole double barrel shot gun close up to my reverend head ah, and sez he, "I've hearn a sequester was the next thing to a confiscator, an ef that's yo business in this here settlement you had better begin to grow mity dam small and beatifully less ah." An my hearers, it looked to me as ef a drove uv mules could a trotted down the barrels uv that air old shot gun ah, an I put spurs to ole Roan and galluped through the wilderness fur fo an twenty-hours ah; an thinks I, my hearers, ef that air man don't pull up sooa he'll git to the end uv his rope ah.

"And when they riz up early in mornin, behold they were all dead corpuses."

And sure enuf; my patient hearers, in about three days that proffanated man was tuk up the freemans buro an tried by a milingtary commission an hung fur a killing uv a nigger ah; an my lisen frens and hearers, when I seen him a standing on the great emensity uv space an kickin at the foth district, sez I too myself in the languig uv the inspired himister ah.

One more sinner is dead and gone,
A silver spade to dig his grave,
A golden chain too let him down,
A bugle horn too blow on-ah.

"An when they riz up early in the mornin, behold too they was all dead corpuses."

It Won't Do.

It is curious how many thousand things there are which won't do to be done, upon this crazy plannet of ours, whereon we eat, sleep, and get our dinners. For instance:

It won't do to plunge into a lawsuit, relying wholy on the justice of your cause, and not equipped beforehand with a brimming purse.

It won't do to twist a man's nose, or tell him he lies, unless you are perfectly satisfied he has not spunk enough to resist it by blowing your brains out (if you have no brains), cracking your skull.

It won't do, when riding in a railroad car to talk of another man, whom you have not seen, as being an 'all-fired scoundrel,' until you are absolutely sure he is not sitting before you.

It won't do to crack jokes on old maids in the presence of unmarried ladies, who have passed the age of forty.

It won't do for a man to bump his head against a stone post, unless he conscientiously believes his head is the hardest.

It won't do for a chap to imagine a girl is indifferent towards him because she studiously avoids him in company.

It won't do, when in a hurrry to eat soup with a two-pronged fork, or to catch flies with a fish net.

It won't do for a man to fancy a lady in love with him because she treats him civilly and politely on all occasions.

'Do you like fish-balls, Mr. Wiggins?' Mr. Wiggins hesitating,—'I really don't know, miss; I never recollect of attending any."

GOLDSBORO' NEWS.

VOLUME IV. GOLDSBORO', N. C., TUESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1867. NUMBER 43.

GENERAL D. H. HILL,

From the Metropolitan Record.

Among the many noble, true hearted, fearless and able champions who have bravely battled for the independence of the Southern Confederacy, there is none more deserving the esteem and respect of his own people, or of those who can appreciate true worth, devotion to principle and high personal character, than Gen. D. H. Hill, of North Carolina. It is needless to speak here of the important and prominent part he played in the late war, or of the straightforward, consistent and independent course he has pursued since its close. Like a true Christian gentleman General Hill has only one rule of conduct for his puplic that he has for his private life, and the people, therefore, know precisely where to find him—on the side of Right and Justice.

When others gave way he remained firm; when others truckled to unprincipled party, he held steadfast to his faith in constitutional freedom. It was with sincere pleasure we greeted the presence of this true son of the South, this generous, hospitable, hightoned gentleman in our editorial sanctum last week. The friends of the RECORD, who we need hardly say are his friends, will be glad to learn that he is in the enjoyment of good health and that his magazine is destined to a prosperous career. We were glad to learn from himself that it has a very extended patronage and is constantly adding to its army of subscribers.—Ranking among the first Magazines of the country in point of learning, high literary talent, and varied interest, it is, we trust, destined to achieve a success surpassed by that of no other periodical of the day.—Its articles are written with great ability, and the subjects selected with admirable taste and judgment, while its 'Haversack' is always full of good things. Magazines of this character not only elevate the literary taste of the people, but materially aid in refining and improving the tone of society.

General Hill returned to his home at Charlotte, North Carolina, where the Land we Love is published, after a brief stay in our metropolis.—He is devoting all his energies to his magazine, and intends that nothing in his power shall be left undone to make it in every way worthy of the public patronage and support. He has our warmest, best wishes for his success, and our earnest hope that before the end of the next year, he will number his subscribers by tens of thousands. Success to the Land we Love, and to its able, gallant, chivalric and big-hearted editor.

Reported Discovery of a Polar Continent.

The Honolulu Advertiser publishes an account of the discovery of land, hitherto unknown, in the Arctic ocean, by Captain Long, of the whale ship Nile. It is thought this territory will prove to be the Polar Continent so long sought after. The past season has been the mildest which has been experienced by the oldest whalemen, and Capt. Long was able to reach latitude 73 30.—He examined the land attentively along its entire southern coast, which he sketched. It appears to be quite elevated, and has a mountain near the centre, about longitude 180, resembling an extinct volcano, and estimated to be about three thousand feet high. Captain Long named the country Urongells Land, after a Russian explorer. The western point of the coast in latitude 70 46 north, longitude 78 30 east, he named Cape Thomas, after the seaman who discovered it. The Southeast point he called Cape Harvan. The Nile sailed several days along the coast, and approached within fifteen miles of the shore. The lower part of the land was free from snow, and appeared to be covered with vegetation. It was impossible to tell how far the land extended northward.—Ranges of mountains could be seen until they were lost in the distance.

The joke practical does not always end as well as in the case of Nathaniel Appleton who found, on riding up to the house of his beloved, that his rival's horse was hitched at the gate. Unhitching him and giving him a stroke with his raw-hide, walked in and inquired whose horse that could be cantering down the street? It need not be said that he found the coast clear at once, and took good pains to keep it so.

A BEAUTIFUL SIMILIE.—"The looker-on was a round, red-faced, sturdy yeoman, with a double chin and a voice husky with good living, good sleeping, good humor, and good health. He was past the prime of life; but Father time is not always a hard parent, and, though he tarries for none of his children, often lays his hands lightly upon those who have used him well, making them old men and woman inexorably enough, but leaving their hearts and spirits young and in full vigor. With such people the grey head is but the impression of the old fellow's hand in giving them his blessing, and every wrinkle but a notch in the quiet calendar of a well-spent life.—Dickens.

GOVERNOR VANCE.—This distinguished gentleman left Norfolk day before yesterday, and we are gratified to know that he carried with him a warm and kindly remembrance of his reception among us.

On behalf of the community we are authorized to say that his visit was not only agreeable but of substantial service.

Old and young, rich and poor, high and low, were equally charmed with his address, and he has infused a new life into our entire community.

There is but one opinion among us in regard to his effort on Monday night.

In solid sense, in genuine humor, in pointed antithesis, in lofty declamation, and true eloquence, it was a master piece of oratory.

But beyond this, it was a most gratifying sight to see North Carolina and Virgina standing up shoulder to shoulder, as it were, in this first dress parade of the organized strength of the white men of Norfolk. The old North State could not have had a nobler representative, nor could the mother of States have given him a more affectionate and cordial welcome than he received in this "Ancient Borough."

We congratulate North Carolina on the possession of such an orator, and confess to a feeling of envy that he was not born on this side of the "dividing line." But, we console ourselves with the reflection that that "line" is geographical, and not moral, or political. Finally, as was eloquently remarked at the end of the address by an appreciative Virginian, THREE CHEERS FOR GOVERNOR VANCE!!—Norfolk Virginian.

Masonry in Havana, Cuba.

By telegram from Havana, Cuba, of date of the 17th instant, we learn that the police of that city on that night surprised a Masonic Lodge, while assembled for business, and took the members into custody, the Lieutenant Governor of Sagua being prominent among them. It further stated that owing to a "Peninsula" alarm cry all the officers were discharged. What a "Peninsula alarm cry" means, we can not imagine, but it must have been something effective to have produced such a result. Another Lodge in Havana, on hearing of the raid, took the precaution to suspend its meetings. Spain and her colonies are not the most agreeable places for Masons, as such to congregate. By law it is prohibited under heavy penalty.—Freemason.

Important Movement in Favor of General Grant.

PHILADELPHIA, December 8.—The Union League of Philadelphia, the most influential political organization in America, numbering 2,000 of the leading men of Pennsylvania, bankers, lawyers, capitalists, clergymen, manufacters, and mechanics, all Radicals, will to-morrow evening decide in favor of General Grant for the Presidency.

Another Attempt at Murder in Jones Co.—As Mr. J. A Haskell (lately of this city, but now residing in Jones Co.,) was on his way to the city day before yesterday, and about one mile from his residence, he was fired upon by some one in the bushes at the top of an embankment on the road. The pistol or gun was so close to Mr. H's head that he was completely stunned although not struck with the bullet.

We learn that suspicion points to a negro, whom Mr. H. discharged from his employment on Saturday last for theft.

No doubt our neighbor will discover that this was also a white rebel painted black.—Jour. Com.

A western girl tried to drown herself because her lover refused to marry her, but she only got into a quagmire up to her knees, and it took Henry half an hour to scrape the mud from off her stockings. The only wonder is, it did not take him longer.

There's our grandmother, says a contemporary, a striking instance of why women should vote. She's paid taxes on a dog for the last ten years, and now declares she won't stand it any longer—she'll either vote or kill the dog!

A person was boasting that he was sprung from a high family.—'Yes,' said a bystander, 'I have seen some of the same family so high that their feet could not touch the ground.'

Two persons were wrangling about their propensity to sleep, when one said to the other: "As soon as you lie down you don't know anything until you get up."—'Well, that's better than not to know anything after you get up," was the reply.

'Whenever you find many men you will find many minds,' exclaimed a public speaker. 'Taint so, by jingo,' responded one of his auditors, "if you ask the whole crowd to take a drink you'd find 'em all of one mind." The lecturer 'caved' without trying to experiment.

Semi-Weekly News.

TUESDAY, DEC. 17, 1867.

The Conservative Convention of Virginia, which has just adjourned, was unquestionably the largest body of able and accomplished gentlemen ever assembled together, and no one says the Enquirer, could look upon it, without feeling that "there is life in the old land yet." God, in his wisdom, has not decreed that the race represented by such men as were in the late Conservitive Convention shall be ruled over by the negro and the white Yahoos who minister to his vilest prejudices and passion. "The silent contempt with which eight hundred Virginia gentlemen treated the vile rabble called a "Constitutional Convention," which is performing in the Capitol, was especially worthy of commendation. It provided the means for counteracting its villainies, erected a noble platform upon which there is room for all honest men, and the moment its work was done, the convention adjourned. Never before in so large a body was there so little which was frivolous or disorderly. The Convention regarded the work before it as too grave and vital for it to permit idle discussions upon matters of minor importance. The President performed his duties with distinguished ability, and the action of the Convention was short, sharp and decisive, upon every question that was brought before it. It acted with the firmness and celerity of those great conventions, of another Revolutionary era, when there was more serious work for Virginians than oratorical displays. The Convention was full of men of rare and distinguished gifts as public speakers, but they devoted their time and talents to the real work for which the convention was convened. In obedience to a call which it was impossible for any man to resist without discourtesy, Hon. R. M. T. Hunter delivered, after the adjournment of the convention, a brief, but able, judicious, and eloquent speech, and this was the only speech, except those by the presiding officers.—But of the able and eloquent men of Virginia of both parties, not a man was absent, and all are now ready at the proper time to employ their great talents to defeat the conspiracy to make a Hayti of Virginia."

From the Rich. Enquirer and Ex'm'r.

An outrage so monstrous as that which is now being attempted upon the disarmed South, cannot be successful without to the army of the United States is assigned the loathsome duty of laying the foundation and sustaining the edifice of negro supremacy. To this vilest of uses, do the Radicals propose to turn the soldiers whose valor "saved the Union.' For years to come they must enforce the brutal rule of the negro over men of their own color and race.—They are to see that the work of Africanizing ten States is thoroughly done. The exaltation of Cuffee is to be made the special duty of Conservative gentlemen from West Point, who know that he is no more capable of governing than a kangaroo or a gorilla.

A splendid future truly is this which Radicalism holds forth to the veterans of the great civil war!—Gentlemen of the Federal army! behold the Radicals' great reward for your four years' devotion to your country! To you is assigned the duty of holding bayonets at the breasts of the white men of ten States, while the negro insults, degrades and dishonors them. You are required to see that the Africanization of the South is thorough and that every vestige of Caucasian civilization and refinement is trampled under the feet of illiterate and savage negroes! You are to be the real victims of Radical malignity, and are to be pitied as much as the white men of the South. For when this hideous conspiracy against the white race comes to an end, and its authors are pilloried by history for ther crime against God and man, you must share the eternal odium which awaits all who have aided and abetted in this foul wrong. In vain will you plead the orders of your superiors when the wrath of the nation, scathing as the red lightnings of Heaven, blasts and scorches all who have helped to make the disarmed white men of the South the helots of the lowest and most degraded of all the races of man. Better far to have died in battle, when the soldiers of the South were armed defiantly confronting you upon many a well-contested field, than to have been forced by malignant, cowardly and selfish politicians to prop the loathsome cause of negro domination with your swords and bayonets!

"The ocean speaks eloquently and forever," says Beecher. "Yes," retorts Prentice, "and there's no use in telling it to dry up."

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.

A mixed delegation from Virginia, North and South Carolina, visited Mr. Stevens yesterday. The following was elicited:

Mr. Stevens said that he regarded the impeachment failure an evidence of the fickleness of public opinion.

The Virginia delegate said the failure to impeach the President would work seriously against reconstruction

Mr. Stevens thought that it could not be otherwise, and mutual regrets were exchanged.

The North Carolina negro, Harris, said they would get along very well; northern whites were more frightened about negro suffrage than Southern whites. He said that ex Governor Holden was the life and blood of the Republican party in North Carolina.

The Virginia delegate represented the condition of things as critical, and that unless Congress came to the relief the sufferings of the colored people and white unionists would be terrible.

Mr. Stevens favored the repeal of the clause requiring a majority of the registered voters.

The delegation thought that would do, but suggested a law empowering the Convention already called to establish provisional governments immediately. Then if the Constitutions were defeated they would have, at least, loyal State officers.

Mr. Stevens said that he had drawn up a bill with two or three beneficial provisions; one was to leave the majority to affirm or reject Constitutions; another, that the present conventions shall, as independent bodies, establish governments, in lieu of district commanders, as soon as Constitutions were ready for submission to Congress. The Delegation approved this.

Mr. Stevens enquired whether their old masters would be able to seduce the negroes from voting properly.

Harris replied that the negroes were dependent on their old masters for daily bread. There was danger, but Harris hoped the negroes were capable of enduring great privations.

The Virginia delegate, Cook (colored), said that Harris's remarks applied to his District. Eight hundred persons in Richmond had lost places.

Mr. Stevens hoped the whole Southern vote would be cast for the Republican party, this would elect a republican President and assure triumphant reconstruction.

CRUEL CRITICISM.—A Radical contemporary insinuates that Forney's "Letters from Europe" may be excused for containing nothing that had not been said before, and for mentioning everything that every traveller in Europe has said before, on the ground that the book was meant for the readers of the Philadelphia Press and Washington Chronicle.

Negro Mob in Georgia.

Atlanta, Dec. 13.—A mob of about fifty armed negroes threatened, on Tuesday night, to attack the students of the Georgia University, at Athens. The students armed in turn, and a difficulty was imminent, but troops were ordered out and they dispersed the negroes.

It has been decided by the revenue department that the position of treasurer in the order of Odd-Fellows or Free Masons, or in any other similar organization, is not an office within the meaning of the statute. The bonds given by the persons holding such positions are, therefore, not subject to a dollar stamp each as bonds for the due execution or performance of the duties of an office, but to a twenty-five cent stamp only.

From Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Dec. 13.

Gen. Pope's political axe is still swinging. Nine judicial and ministerial officers have been recently removed to give place to loyal Republicans. Five of Gen. Pope's appointees were extreme Republicans, members of the late Reconstruction Convention.

The Conservative colored meeting last night organized a Conservative Club. The whole affair was managed by blacks. The colored speakers denounced the so-called carpet bag members of the Reconstruction Convention, and declared that colored people were enemies to themselves if they any longer refused to heed the advice and counsel of his true and tried friends and the old inhabitants of the South. The resolutions adopted declare in strong terms against the ratification of the Constitution.

Gen. Pope has ordered the election to be held in Alabama for ratification of the new State Constitution on the 4th of next February.

NOTICE TO FARMERS AND FRUIT GROWERS.

THIS RAILWAY COMPANY IS prepared to transport promptly to Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York any desired quantity of Vegetables, Peaches, Grapes, Apples and other fruit. Cars loaded with such articles will be run upon the passenger trains through to these cities for the cities mentioned

Rates of freight will be very low, not to exceed one dollar a barrel on vegetables or fruit to Baltimore and similar rates to Philadelphia and New York. Boxes of fruit less.

Peaches, Apples and Grapes properly put up in boxes will be placed in cars well ventilated to secure their preservation and freshness, to the end of the route.—Every encouragement will be given to develop this new business.

The line of the Wilmington & Weldon, as well as the Manchester Railroad and the Cape Fear River, are especially adapted to the growth of these articles for early market, and the very great advantages of climate are entirely secured by the quick transportation that can be given by Rail and Steamer to a market.

Any further information will be cheerfully supplied by application to the undersigned.

GEN. R. E. COLSTON.—We are gratified in being able to announce that this distinguished gentleman will appear before the Library Association of Goldsboro', on Friday evening next the 20th instant. Gen. C. enjoys the reputation of being a gentleman of rare literary reputation and accomplishments, and we have no doubt that all who may attend will be richly rewarded. The Presbyterian Church has been selected, and the hour of 7 o'clock, p. m., appointed for the delivery of the lecture.

SNOW.—The first snow of the season fell in this vicinity on Saturday night last. Although light, it is unusually early for this lattitute. The telegraph gives accounts of heavy snow storms to the north of us. In Sandusky, Ohio, the storm raged for twenty hours with unprecedented fury, and is pronounced the heaviest fall of snow that has ever occurred in that place. The weather has been very cold since Thursday night last, and this early cold snap has caused a shiver in many poor families, who suffer severely on such occasions.—Remember the poor, and divide your comforts with them.

MATCH GAME.—The Vance Club of this town, and the Harnett Club of Wilmington, will play a match game of Base Ball, in the latter town, on the 24th instant. Boys of the Vance, look well to your laurels.

MORE STEALING.—A gentleman of rank, named William Smith, brought a fine ox to town one day last week, and sold it to our butchers, Messrs. Wilson & Royall, for the sum of $30. The negro pocketed the money and left, and the animal was driven to the pen. The Southern train soon after arrived, bearing our friend J. R. Hatch, Esq., of Mt. Olive, who was in search of an ox stolen from him the night before. Upon examination the ox was identified and driven home by Mr. Hatch, while Messrs. Wilson & Royall have to lament the loss of their greenbacks.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING.—It will be seen by reference to advertisement of the invincible Freeman that he has made arrangements with Santa Claus and filled his shelves with good things for the approaching holidays, to which he invites special attention. Don't forget that

Santa Claus, our Christmas friend
Will soon his annual visit pay,
To all who have the cash to spend
We say prepare for th' holiday
In days of yore, when we were boys
We oft did wish that Santa Claus
Might come with all his chritmas toys
And force obed ence to his laws—
Which were, that parents then should go
To some confectionary near,
And buy some things to fill the hose
Suspended by the children dear,
Though money's scarce and times are hard,
Time-honored custom should not fail;
Then listen while your humble bard
Tells how to keep the festival.

Santa Claus Freeman, at Wood's old store
Has everything you could desire;
So go at once and there procure
Things which your children must admire
He has a lot of candies fine,
Of Oranges and Lemons too;
Of sugared Figs and Citron Rind,
And Nuts as rich as ever grew.
Pine Apples rare and Raisins sweet,
And Brandy Peaches very nice,
And jel ies that cannot be beat—
All at the very lowest price.

And then he has for girls and boys,
Who may perchance pass up his way,
As fine a lot of Fancy Toys
As ever graced a holiday.
And to illume that happy night
He has a lot of choice fire-works,
You need not fear their brilliant light
For in their blaze no danger lurks.
While other men in cotton trade,
And not a cent for children spend,
He has for them much money paid
So don't forget the "Children's Friend."

In the language of the eloquent Lindsey, of the Bones and Banjo Convention of Virginia, the "Stenography has been qualified." An ordinance has been passed fixing the pay of the Stenographer at $3,33 per each octavo page.

A letter to the Herald says Secretary Seward is negotiating for the purchase of Cuba, and that the Spanish Government looks favorably towards the proposition.

The Montgomery correspondent of the New York Herald says that one of the delegates to Pope's Convention in that city, was released by that valiant warrior from jail in order that he might take his seat in in that body.

The Next Year.

Such has been the very general failure of cotton planters, the present year, to meet expenses, there is a disposition to abandon the policy adopted for the past two years, and to confine the operations of planting within the narrowest limits possible. As a general rule this line of policy will be forced upon the planters.

In this view, the prospects of the colored population are especially deplorable. Those of them, who have congregated in the towns, already find it difficult to obtain employment. But if there should be an influx of colored persons into the towns, on account of the scarcity of labor on the farms, what is to become of them, unless new sources of employment are devised? If we had capital in the country to establish factories, open mines or build new Railroads, these people might find employment, but, in the absence of capital, under the present discouragements, there must be a dead-lock to enterprise of all kinds.

The condition of our planters is not imaginary. If our colored population had the energy and the disposition to labor, which many have not, and if they were sufficently reliable and trustworthy to justify our land owners to rent them lands, still the fact is palpable, that, having exhausted their wages, they will be unable to procure provisions upon which to make a crop. More than this, the provisions are not to be had in the country, and can only be obtained for the cash.

The sources of employment, therefore, in our present condition, are necessarily greatly lessened both in town and country, and we should regret to see laborers, either white or colored, coming into this State seeking employment for the next year.—We have heard, within a few days past, that negroes from Virgina, and, perhaps, from South Corolina, are coming to this State to obtain employment. The number is likely to increase, unless proper efforts are made to give them information.

The North Western States, perhaps, afford the best prospect for profitable employment for laborers, without the means to purchase lands. Working people, who have means to buy lands and carry on a good system of agriculture, can, perhaps, do better in North Carolina than any where else, but laborers without means seeking employment had better go elsewhere. Raleigh Sentinel.

WHY GEN. SHERMAN IS IN WASHINGTON.—A letter in the Baltimore Gazette says:

"The President would have resisted suspension, and in this resistance he would have been sustained by General Sherman, if not by other general officers of the army. Hence the General's presence at the national capital. The verdant individual who would argue that he came only to write up a report on Indian affairs, because, forsooth, the emergency did not arise for his assuming command of the Department of Washington, exhibits a lack of judgment, if not of brains.

'No, father isn't a drone,' said a bright lad; 'he's a philanthropist and collects money for the heathen in Africa to pay for our houses and things."

The Convention Carried in South Carolina.—Official information from General Canby's headquarters, received here to-night, is to the effect that a Convention in South Carolina is probably called, notwitstanding the apparent failure at first indicated. The returns from the interior show that a larger vote was polled in the upper counties than on the seacoast. The Convention in North Carolina will probably be fixed for the early part of January, and that for South Carolina somewhat later in the same month.—Wash. Letter.

A very heavy snow is said to have fallen at Richmond; but, by order of the Menagerie in session there, it was speedily swept away, because it was too white for their politics.

Morning Star.

Lady Margaret Herbert asked somebody for a pretty pattern for a nightcap. "Well," said the person, "what signifies the pattern of a nightcap?" "O! child," said she, "you know in case of fire!"

VITALITY OF OYSTERS.—It may interest lovers of oysters to know that the oyster is very tenacious of life, and is said to keep up its organization in the human stomach for a long time. An oyster's heart, it is said, beats perceptibly half an hour after it is swallowed, all of which it is very pleasant to know. Norfolk Journal.

Punch told the story some years since of a man who loaned an umbrella to a friend—a tradesman in the street—on a wet, nasty day. It was not returned, and on another wet disagreeable day, he called for it, but found his friend at the door going out with it in his hand. "I've come for my umbrella," exclaimed the loaner. "Can't help that," exclaimed the borrower, "don't you see that I am going out with it?" "Well—yes," replied the lender, astonished at such outrageous impudence—"yes, but what am I to do?" "Do?" replied the other, as he threw up the top and walked off—"Do as I did, borrow."

For the News.

THE MANIAC.

Night her shades had thrown around,
The dew of Heaven damped the ground,
While by a new made, lonely mound
Sank a mother's knee.

To the hallowed grave she clung,
In negleet her grey locks hung,
In accents wild she madly sung,
To the passing breeze.

It is not so! it ne'er can be,
That I never more shall see,
Or in my lonely arms clasp thee.
My lost sleeping boy!

Your couch is damp, arise my dear!
Why remain in thy silent bier?
To my throbbing heart draw near,
And give your mother joy.

He does not come, it must be true,
That he's bid me a last adieu,
And gone to the starry world of blue,
Then I'll cease to rave.

When all was hushed in the gloomy night,
Her weary spirit winged its flight,
The sun arose next morning bright,
To find her on his grave.

VIATOR.

Goldsboro', N. C, Dec 17 h 1867.

Attempt at Highway Robbery Frustrated—One of the Robbers Chocked to death.—Night before last between eight and nine o'clock, Mr. Cannon Cox, (who lives about four miles from this city) started to go home, and took up a negro named Jim Ward in his wagon to take him home. It seems that Ward lived about three quarters of a mile further than Mr. Cox, and prevailed on him to take him beyond his (Cox's) house, across a creek near by, as the creek was much swollen and the road very wet. After getting across the creek the negro got out, and Mr. Cox turned his horse homeward.

He had proceeded but a short distance when three negroes sprang out into the road and tried to stop the wagon by catching hold of the wheels. Mr. Cox quickly shouted to his horse and the animal springing forward the attempt was frustrated. The highwaymen demanded Mr. Cox's money, and upon his telling them that he had none, the deceased, Ward, replied: "You lie, you damned son of a bitch," and managed to spring into the wagon at the rear, and immediately caught Mr. Cox by the throat. Mr. Cox succeeded in getting clear of his grasp, and, catching him by the throat, forced him into a box in which he was standing, in the front of the wagon, and held him. The horse, in the meantime, running with all his speed. Mr. Cox succeeded in stopping him in front of his house, and called for his pistol, which was brought to him by Henry Garvey. At this time it was discovered that he had held the negre so tightly by the throat that he was dead.

Mr. Cox at once came to the city, and gave notice of the matter to the Sheriff, and a Coroner's jury was summoned by acting Coroner, B. Sullivan, and after getting all the evidence returned the following unanimous verdict:

"That James Ward came to his death by strangulation at the hands of Cannon Cox, who acted in self-defence."—Jour. Commerce 14th.

MORE ROBBERIES AND OUTRAGES.—There have been several robberies committed in Jones, Lenoir and Craven Counties this week. Among them we note the following:

The house of Mr. Johnson, in Jones, was robbed last Monday by three or four negroes during Mr. J's absence.

Wednesday night last a band of fifteen or twenty negroes went to the house of Mr. F. J. Taylor, in Lenoir county, near Kinston and asked for work. Mr. Taylor told them that he had no work for them, but that one of his neighbors had some cotton to pick out. They replied that "they would be damned before they would pick cotton," and demanded his horses or mules. Mr. Taylor, attempted to reach his house to get his gun, was seized and thrown down and severely hurt. A party of the gang then entered the house and commenced the plunder, stealing money, clothing, bedding and other valuables.

These negroes were armed. This information we gather from a citizen of Kinston conversant with the fact.

How long; O, Lord, how long!

A hatter was also robbed near Kinston a few days ago.—Journal Commerce.

Wooden legs cost the government last year $35,206 50. Woodheads cost the goverement much more than that.

PHILADELPHIA UNIVERSITY

MEDICINE & SURGERY.

THE PHILADELPHIA UNIVERSITY of Medicine and Surgery was organized in 1848. Chartered by the Legislature, February 26, 1853. Name changed by a legislative enactment to the Eclectic Medical College of Philadelphia in 1860. In 1863 it purchased the Pennsylvania Medical College, established in 1842, and the Philadelphia Medical College, which had previously been merged into the Pennsylvania Medical College. In 1864 it purchased the Penn Medical University. The Trustees of the separate schools united, petitioned, and obtained a special act of the Legislature, consolidating these institutions and changing their names to that of the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery, March 15, 1865. All these various acts are published in the statutes of Pennsylvania.—The cost of the building and museum was over one hundred thousand dollars. It will be observed that the University, as now organized, is the legal representative of the four medical colleges that it has absorbed. It is a liberal school of medicine, confined to no dogma, nor attached to any medical clique; but embraces in its teachings everything of value to the profession.

Sessions.—It has two full sessions each year, commencing on the 1st of October, and continuing until the 1st of January as its first session, and from the 1st of January to the 1st of April as its second; the two constituting one full course of lectures. It has also a summer session, commencing the 1st of April and continuing until August, for the preparatory branches such as Latin, Greek Mathematics, Botany, Zoology, Chemistry, Anatomy, Physiology, etc.

TICKETS.—Tickets to the full course of lectures $120, or $60 for each session. For the summer or preparatory course $25. Graduating fee $30. To aid young men of moderate means the University has issued five hundred scholarships, which are sold to first course students, for $75 and to second course students and clergymen for $50, each constituting the holder a life member, with the perpetual privileges of the lectures, and all the teachings of the school. The only additional fees are a yearly dissecting and matriculating ticket, each of which is $5.

THE ADVANTAGES OF SCHOLARSHIPS.—The student holding a scholarship can enter the College at any time during the year, attend as long as he chooses, and re-enter the institution as frequently as desired.

It requires no previous reading or study to enter the University on scholarships, hence, all private tuition fees are saved.

Students, by holding scholarships, can prosecute other business a part of the time.

The candidate for graduation can present himself at any time, and receive his degree as soon as qualified.

In case a student should hold a scholarship and not be able to attend lectures, it can be transferred to another, thus preventing any loss.

Parents, guardians, or friends of students wishing to purchase scholarships for them a year or more before their attendance at the University, can secure them by advancing one half the price, and paying the balance when the student enters. Physicians and benevolent men can bestow great benefit upon poor young men, by presenting them a scholarship, and thus enabling them to obtain an honorable profession.

The Faculty embraces seventeen eminent physicians and surgeons. The University has associated with it a large hospital clinic, where every form of medical and surgical disease is operated on and treated in the presence of the class.

COLLEGE BUILDING.—The College building, located in Ninth street, south of Walnut, is the finest in the city. Its front is collegiate gothic, and is adorned with embattlements and embrasures, presenting a novel, bold and beautiful appearance. The facade is of brown stone, ornamented by two towers, rising to the elevation of eighty feet, and crowned with an embattled parapet. The building contains between fifty and sixty rooms, all supplied with water, gas, and every other convenience that modern improvement can contribute to facilitate medical instruction. Only five hundred scholarships will be issued, and as two hundred and fifty are now sold, those who wish to secure one should do so at once. Money can be remitted by express, or a draft or check sent to any National bank in the United States, when the scholarship will be returned by mail, signed by the President of the Board of Trustees, Jos S. Fisher, Esq., and the Dean of the Faculty, W. Paine, M. D. All orders for Scholarships or other business of the University, should be addressed to Prof. W. Paine, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa.

Lawrence's Blood Medicine.

This greatest of all Blood Medicines is a highly concentrated fluid extract of the Rosadalis Scrofularia, in combination with other chemical extract of roots and plants

Stillingia is one of the ingredients in this medicine, and although used only for a few years by physicians, it has already obtained an unrivaled reputation as a Blood Medicine or Alterative

Read what the highest Medical Authority says about Stillingia, used as one of the Compound Parts of this Medicine, as an ALTERATIVE.

The following are the names of physicians, all of high standing and extensively known, and who laud it as an alterative of unequaled efficacy, viz: THOMAS Y. SIMONS, M. D., American Medical Recorder, Vol. XIII, page 312; A. LOPEZ, M D., New Orleans Medical and Surgical Journal, Vol III, page 40, and H. R. FROST M D, Southern Journal of Medicine and Pharmacy, November, 1846. These gentlemen report STILLINGIA to be undoubtedly a most valuable remedy in Scrofula, Cutaneous Diseases, as well as in many other complaints benefitted by the use of mercury, and their statements are corroborated by all physicians who have tested it.

ROSADALIS,

in all Chronic cases, has almost a specific action. In fact, it is the only medicine that will effect a speedy cure when the system is in a depraved state.

It Acts on all the Secretions of the System and, at the same time, carries off the diseases not only through the Blood, but also through the secretions of the Skin and Kidneys.

This preparation is compounded upon scientific principles, and with great care, by one thoroughly acquainted with the medical qualities and effects of each article, separately considered, as well as the whole in its combined state. I therefore recommend this preparation with the greatest confidence, being fully persuaded that it will give, very general, if not universal, satisfaction.

I do not pretend that it is a Cure-all, nor that, in all cases, and under all circumstances, it is absolutely infallible.—Common sense teaches us that the day of miracles has passed, but science and facts remains, and on the strength of these we call attention to the Rosadalis Compound, as a VALUABLE MEDICINE.

More real virture for Diseases of the Blood than one hundred bottles of the much lauded

SARSAPARILLA.

DR. LAWRENCE'S ROSADALIS

Has no equal as an alterative or Blood Medicine. It is no secret medicine, as the formula has been published; and is used extensively by physicians in their practice, as the most reliable medicine known for the cure of SCROFULA, WHITE-SWELLING, and all diseases growing out of an impure state of blood. Thousands will testify to its value.—North-Western Medical Journal.

THE ROSADALIS

Restores the system when it is afflicted with SCROFULA, CUTANEOUS DISEASES, or any other disease of the blood; it will add more to one's happiness than all the wealth of the world—Chris Mon

ROSADALIS will bring health? What is the value of money compared with health? Men will toil early and late, undergo many trials, deprive themselves of the comforts of life, to make money, and when they have accumulated it, what is it worth to them, without health?

MOTHERS, who wish to find a medicine peculiarly adapted to the cure of humors and eruptions in their children, will find a safe and sure one in the ROSADALIS, which is acknowledged to be the best Blood Medicine known. Physicians attest to this.

ROSADALIS

IS THE ONLY CERTAIN CURE FOR

SCROFULA, or KING'S EVIL.

At first small knots appear under the skin on the neck, or behind the ear, which gradually increase in size until they form one large tumor This continues often for a long time without breaking, and even then only discharges a thin, watery humor. Sometimes the knots appear on the breast, eyes, feet, hands and armpits. Scrofula is becoming more general in this generation than people are aware of. The old, the young, the rich, the poor, are afflicted alike and are the victims. The young child with its weak eyes: the glands are swollen, the sores and pimples on different parts of the body may lie dormant in its system for years before it develops itself.

The Rosadalis is perfectly harmless

Providence has provided in Nature plants and roots that are remedies for all the ills of suffering humanity. The Preparation contains no poisonous acids or mineral substances whatever. It has been extensively used, with universal satisfaction in all cases.

A Remarkable Book.

WILL PUBLISH IN A FEW DAYS,

THE OLD CAPITOL AND ITS INMATES;

By a Lady who enjoyed the hospitalities of the Government for a season. 12 mo., cloth. $1.50. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of the price.

This is one of the most remarkable books of the day, describing, as it does, in a graphic manner, some of the scenes of the despotism which reigned unchecked in our unhappy country during the period of the "Bastiles," when, as Mr. Secretary Seward boasted to Lord Lyons, he had only to toll such a little bell to order the arrest of a citizen in any part of the country. The author, an accomplished lady of high social position, describes what she herself saw and suffered—the arrest of herself and others without cause; their brutal treatment; long imprisonment; and final discharge without more reason, apparently, than had served for their arrest. Mrs. SURRATT was a fellow prisoner and the description of her noble conduct—of her kindness to a sick woman who had been endeavoring to entrap and betray her for "thirty pieces of silver," will make the world shudder more and more at the remembrances that such a woman was consigned to the gallows by a military tribunal, which may have far more to answer for at a higher Tribunal than the victim of their blind rage.

The Editor of the Richmond Daily Dispatch, to whom the manuscript was submitted, says in that paper of November 13th:

When we first read this little work we were at a loss to say whether it was fiction or fact. If fact, we reasoned to ourself, it was a mere's range account of the treatment of the Federal Government to the Female prisoners, in the Old Capitol prison. If fiction, its authoress has rivaled DE FOE in the happiest productions of his pen, for surely the wonderful adventures of Robinson Crusoe and his man Friday are not told with more real embluance than are these experiences of the young lady who enjoyed for a season the hospitalities of the Government in the Old Capitol. Our doubts have been resolved by a friend of the write, who informs us that the recital contained in these pages is not only fact, but that it falls below the fact as this lady witnessed it. The book has entranced us. We read it with as eager interest as ever we turned over the pages of SCOTT or BULWER. This last product of the cruel war though which we have just passed [not to say we are now passing] will, we predict, be among the most popular writings of the day. The book will shortly be published, and be in reach of all who wish to know the truth, and nothing but the truth, in relation to the mode of treating female prisoners in Washington. There is a story of Mrs. SURRATT; she appears in these pages as an angel of mercy. Could such a woman be a criminal?"
